Department of Mathematics

Report of Certificate Course for AY 2021-22

The Department of Mathematics always think about the overall development of the students and we know that today's world is the world of competition and the only traditional knowledge cannot survive the students and make them self-dependent. The linear programming has wide range application in the different sector and good opportunities for jobs. So, the department has started a self-financial certificate course on "Study of linear programming problem using MATLAB software for degree students during the academic year 2018-19 through the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC). This course helps the students to avail them the detail knowledge of linear programming problem and MATLAB software and it helps them to do career in the respective field. The training pedagogies in this course aim at equipping students with contemporary concepts, perspectives, practices and approaches. The faculty of the department, who offer this course has an experience, knowledge and training skills.

Duration of the Course

The courses run concurrently with the graduate programme and are spread for over 30 hours of inclusive classroom instruction, practical work, assignments etc.

For the academic year 2021-22, the department has register only 05 (Five) students for this course and 04 (Four) students have been completed the certificate course successfully. At the successful completion of the course, students are awarded Credit Certificates.
